Kranj, December, 2009 - Euro Plus, the world-leading developer of professional Automatic Identification software solutions receives formal Microsoft Windows 7 Compatibility Certification for its core product NiceLabel.

NiceLabel prides itself on its compatibility with the latest Microsoft operating system standards. As the Microsoft-designed certification tests are the highest test standard for compatibility and reliability, the rigorous certification was complete before the release of Windows 7.

"Our applications are designed to answer recognized needs and changes in the industry. One of the significant consequences of entering the Enterprise market was the increase in customer expectations for stable, powerful solutions, which are certified according to latest industry standards", said Andrej Zrimšek, Head of Development at Euro Plus.

NiceLabel's dedication to meeting new IT trends as they appear empowers its customers with the tools to engage their competitors. The recent expansion of platform support offers its business partners advanced development, sales and service opportunities.

"We want to increase our customer's satisfaction by expanding the NiceLabel functionality to the highest level possible. As a Microsoft Gold Partner we make sure to keep up with the latest standards. Following Vista Certification in the beginning of this year, Windows 7 Compatibility is a natural step ahead that shows our appreciation for all levels of NiceLabel users." said Matej Košmrlj, Managing Director at Euro Plus.
